FOREWORD

A towering mountain . . .
The stars at night . . .
The first light of dawn . . .
Wheat rippling
In the wind . . .
Nature . . . beautiful, ubiquitous . . .
Her moods, reflected in our thoughts and actions.

Her existence, so much a part of ours.
Nature, our teacher,
pure, simple, harmonious . . .
Nature, our guide,
truthful, loving, wise . . .
Nature, the perfect model
for all to follow.
Nature, the theme of SCOPE 1968.

WHERE INDIVIDUALS MEET

TO BECOME THE WHOLE

A musician who lives and loves her music, Mrs. Miriam Flatt willingly spends her spare moments sharing her feeling for music with her students. Her main objective in her classes is not only to teach music to interested students, but also to strengthen the students' character and to encourage their self-discipline.

In 1942 Mrs. Flatt graduated from the University of Rochester Eastman School of Music with a B. M. degree. She received her M. S. in Elementary Education from SUC at Buffalo in 1954. She has done graduate work at Ithaca College, the Eastman School, and at a Fred Waring Workshop. Before joining the Royalton-Hartland teaching staff in 1954, she taught in three other schools.

During her years at Roy-Hart, she has initiated several programs, including: an annual musical comedy, the purchase of an organ, and the only "Sing Out America" program in this area in the 1967-68 school year. Each year she devotes much time to helping students prepare for talent shows, seasonal concerts, vocal competition, and NYSSMA concerts. Mrs. Flatt is also active in community activities.

In appreciation of your devotion to music and to the recognition you have won for Roy-Hart through your tireless efforts in musical production, the staff of SCOPE proudly dedicates the 1968 edition of our yearbook, to you, Mrs. Flatt.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

 MR. PAUL O'NEIL

THEY WILLINGLY GIVE OF THEIR TIME

If the students of the Royalton-Hartland Central School are to obtain the best education possible, members of the community must receive an accurate report of their needs. Someone must make certain that the community is informed and that the needs of the students are fulfilled. This is the duty of the seven well-qualified men who constitute the Board of Education. In the beginning of the school year, the Board of Education was concerned with the approval and appointment of several new teachers. The members set up a budget to cover the financial needs of the school district for the year. This budget was then turned over to the voters for their approval. At their monthly meetings, the Board discussed school policies and new equipment and facilities. The board members have willingly and unselfishly given their time for extra meetings concerning the building project now in operation. Our sincere thanks are extended to the Board of Education for the wonderful opportunities in education they have provided for us.

MR. CHARLES H. PORTER
Supervising Principal

THE PEOPLE WITH THE KNOW-HOW

Without their leader, a people can do nothing. The leader provides the "know-how" and experience to keep his government operating smoothly. The leader at RHCS is the administration. Mr. Charles H. Porter, our Supervising Principal, is the chief executive. He is in charge of the affairs of the entire Royaltown-Hartland School district. Assisting him in the High School is Mr. Edward Sanderson who supervises the instruction of students in grades seven through twelve. Mrs. Jean Koenig, Middleport Elementary School Principal, and Mr. Frederick Gibbs, Gasport Elementary School Principal, supervise the learning experiences and guidance of the younger students. The administrators have many varied tasks. In addition to managing the affairs of the schools, they see that the process of education functions smoothly. They evaluate new materials and provide the students with the best curriculum available. Their goal is to maintain the high standard of education RHCS has always known. Therefore, we extend our thanks to these fine and deserving administrators.

Nancy Nicolia

MR. EDWARD SANDERSON, High School Principal

MR. FREDERICK GIBBS, Building Principal Gasport Elementary

MRS. JEAN KOENIG, Building Principal Middleport Elementary

MR. ROBERT BRADO
Attendance and Transportation
Officer, Director of Physical Education

If a bus is needed for study trips or to transport spectators to sports events, the man to see is Mr. Robert Brado. He is the supervisor of all school-connected transportation. Through his work as attendance officer for the school district, accurate records are kept of each student. As supervisor of the Physical Education department, he schedules all sports events and helps in the development of the Health Education program.

Under the direction of Mr. Horgan, Pupil Personnel Services function in order to assist each pupil to make the most of his opportunities and potentialities as he grows in his educational environment. The highly trained Pupil Personnel staff members contribute their skills and knowledge in the specialized areas of guidance, health services, psychological services, special education, speech, home teaching, testing and vocational programs.

MR. CHRISTOPHER HORGAN

FACULTY AND CURRICULUM — FOUNDATION

ENGLISH

A college level study of the major genres of literature is covered by the Advanced Placement English class. Some students in English IV learn the subject matter with an emphasis on the mass media in modern communications. Others concentrate on modern communications with emphasis upon individual differences and self-expression.

MRS. MARY ROSE COPELAND
Senior High English
Department Chairman

MISS CATHERINE CRAMER
Junior High English

In the Junior High, Miss Cramer teaches reading and writing, two basic elements of English. Students are taught to appreciate literature through the study of classics. Miss Cramer stresses the structure of the language and the methods by which it is used to communicate ideas. Emphasis is also placed on vocabulary and spelling.

MR. EDWARD SCUTT
Senior High English

MRS. MARJORY MARSHALL
Senior High English

New to Roy-Hart is Mrs. Marshall's humanities course. This class studied art and music as well as literature. They attended the Buffalo Philharmonic concerts at Lockport and the Studio Arena Theater, went to Stratford to see RICHARD III and visited Temple Beth Zion. They also used TV and worked in teams to improve their oral presentations.

Mr. Scutt's sophomore English class wrote children's stories. Members of the class told the best of these original stories to the kindergartners. The freshmen concentrated on the poet's art in their study of poetry. Then each student had the opportunity to experience the agony and satisfaction of creating by writing a poem himself.

MR. THOMAS BERMINGHAM
Junior High English

Albert Einstein once said, "Imagination is more important than knowledge." With this premise in mind, Mr. Bermingham's seventh grade English class faces the challenge of the multiple aspects of the English language. After reading great literature such as poetry, HUCKLEBERRY FINN and THE CHRISTMAS CAROL, they spend much time dramatizing their readings.

In Mrs. McWilliams' tenth grade English classes, emphasis is placed on appreciation of literature through recognition of irony, flash backs, plot, theme, foreshadowing, point of view, single impression and tone. Frequent writing assignments are also an important aspect. In addition, a distinct effort is made to help the students recognize the necessity of assuming responsibility.

MRS. PHYLLIS McWILLIAMS
Senior High English

Mrs. Brown helps seniors study the language and literature of England. Records, films and tape recordings make the study of Shakespeare and Chaucer interesting. English III students concentrate on American literature, learn vocabulary and writing skills, and practice effective speaking. Students also strive to improve listening and note-taking ability.

MRS. EILEEN BROWN
Senior High English

In seventh grade English Miss Schmitt helps students to perfect their written and oral communication. The study of literature communicates to them the ideas and ideals of others. In her eighth grade classes Miss Schmitt correlates literature with work in social studies. Students enjoy the study of mass media, including the newspaper.

MISS SARAH SCHMITT
Junior High English

MR. JOSEPH NASAL
Senior High Social Studies

Industrial leaders visited Mr Nasal's Advanced Economics class to discuss wages, prices, and costs of production. Advanced Economics is a study of America's economic system. Pupil involvement is important in the Experimental American History program. Library research work was done by the pupils to gain a better understanding of problems America is continually facing.

MR. CHARLES KANE
Senior High Social Studies,
Department Chairman

As Mr. Kane teaches the structure of American government, he emphasizes the practical aspects of most importance to the future voting citizens of our country. Seniors in his Advanced Government course have the opportunity to explore the governing process to add deeper meaning to their knowledge of political theory and government structure.

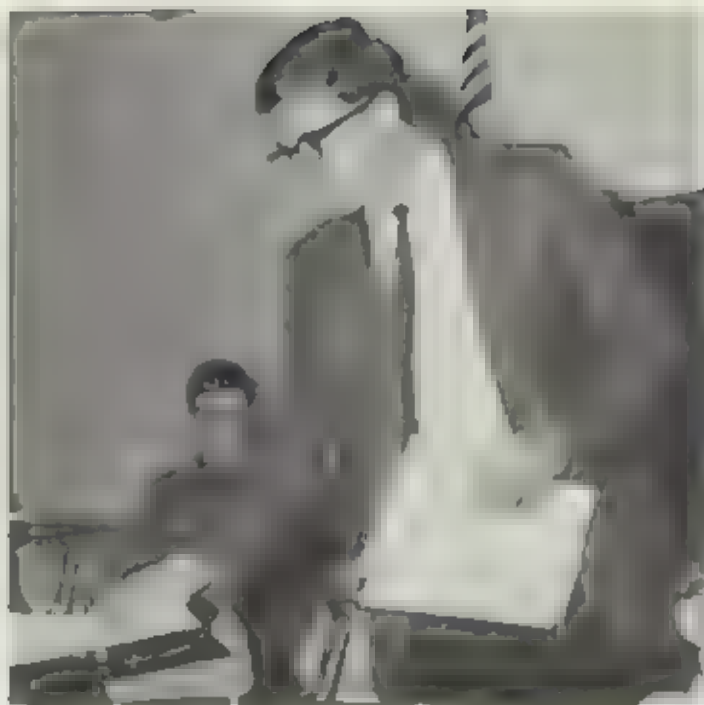

MR. WILLIAM CHRISTENSEN
Junior High Social Studies

Asia and Africa visit Roy-Hart through Mr. Christensen's ninth grade social studies classes. Students used video tape, the lecture, and the question and answer approach. They also visited the Robert Moses Power Project. Correlation of social studies with English was a feature of eighth grade.

African Studies in New York City was taught by Mr. O'Brien. The students observed the principles that have affected Africa in the past and present and determine how these will apply to Africa's future.

MR. JAMES COLES
Senior High Social Studies

Among the new social studies courses offered to seniors is sociology. Mr. Coles' students investigate group behavior, discuss contemporary social problems, and attempt to understand people and their cultures. In ninth grade, the study of the economic world featured a video-tape recorded debate tournament.

MR. GAR LARSON
Senior High Social Studies

In Mr. Larson's American History class, no text was used. Students collected information and used inductive reasoning to formulate their own opinions. Classroom techniques such as debates, video-tapes, and panel discussions were used to give the students a thorough understanding of the government, economy, culture and world involvement of the United States.

MR. EDWARD MALONEY
Junior High Social Studies

Maps, filmstrips, oral reports and discussions are teaching devices used by Mr. Maloney in the study of America's history, geography and constitution. During the study of the Civil War period, a special project includes making maps of battles, drawings of leaders, and a description of uniforms and weapons.

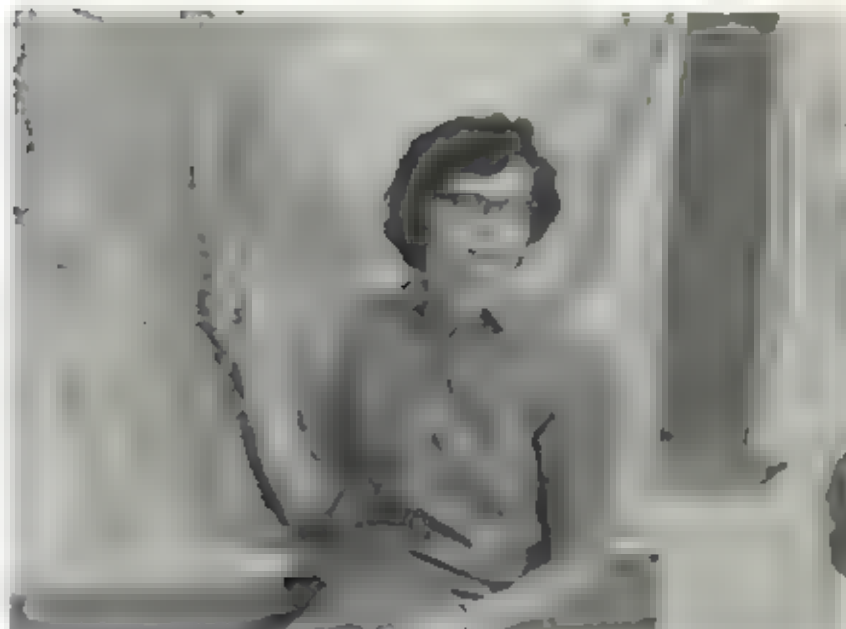

MR. BRUNO PACINI
Junior High Social Studies

Mr. Pacini helps mold future citizens. In seventh grade social studies, he emphasizes New York, the Empire State, its history, geography, and people. The study of the growth of our community and its government gives each student an understanding of the importance of the individual and his responsibilities as a citizen.

SCIENCE AND SOCIAL STUDIES

In the eighth grade social studies - English core program, the students become aware of their responsibilities as American citizens. They are encouraged to attain a sense of personal value and to achieve a state of self-satisfaction within their abilities.

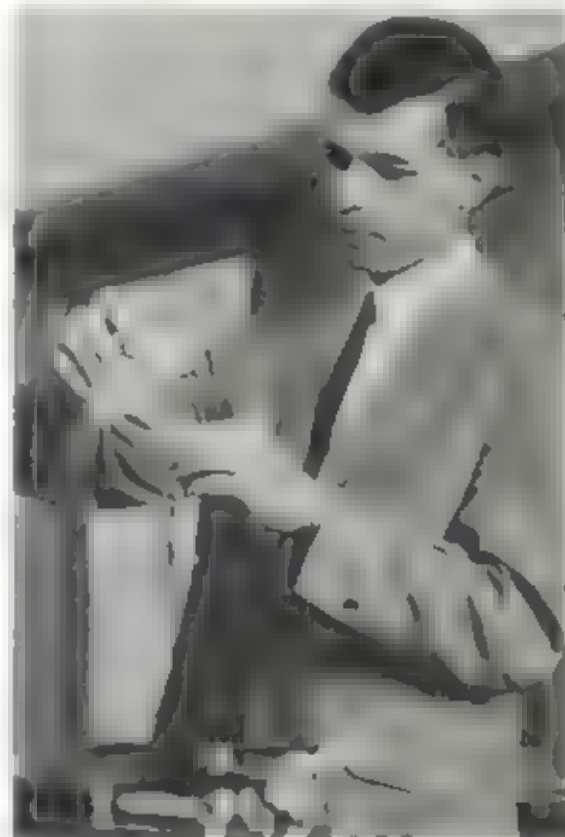

MRS. NANCY KNAPP
Junior High English
and Social Studies

MR. HERBERT KOENIG
Junior High Science
Department Chairman

This year Mr. Koenig taught a Science / Reading program at the seventh grade level. A development of reading skills was used as an avenue for the study of scientific material. Through this program students were able to see the importance of reading skills in learning and understanding science principles and concepts.

Mr. Day's students in Earth Science learn how to conserve our resources. They study about land, the earth in relation to other bodies in space, the earth's atmosphere and the sea and sea coasts. In General Science students sample all sciences: they study life, planets, plants, animals and minerals.

MR. NORMAN DAY
Junior High Science

MISS CAROL LENHARDT
Junior High Mathematics
and Science

In the seventh and eighth grade core, Miss Lenhardt teaches a combination of science and math. Her students are enriched by field trips to the Buffalo and Rochester Museums of Science and a shopping center. Seventh grade Science / Reading features many films, transparencies, and various texts.

"Why?" — Mr. McKinney tries to have physics students answer this question in regard to sound and electricity, light, heat, and mechanics. As well as formal classes, each student has two laboratory periods a week in Roy-Hart's very well-furnished laboratory. Here students put into practice the things they learn in the formal class.

MR. GEORGE MCKINNEY
Junior and Senior High S.

Now that the Roy-Hart Biology lab is fully equipped, all students in Mr. August's classes engage in a laboratory experience once a week. The course emphasizes the discovery approach with the class work verifying what is learned in lab. Students study animal and plant life and the structures and functions of living things.

MR. HAROLD AUGUST
Junior and Senior High Science

How do I fit into the scheme of things?" In Life Science Mr. Travers directs all observations of life toward the students. Field trips to study the possibilities of life, projects which require thought and imagination, and outside activities to show students the natural observatory existing in their own backyard are highlights of this course.

MR. WILLIAM TRAVER
Junior and Senior High Science

MR. ROBERT ARNOLD
Senior High Science

Learning through concepts is the basis of the new state chemistry course. Mr. Arnold's students attend seven periods of chemistry a week, two of which are lab sessions. Each topic is related to the next in this course to build a more complete understanding of chemistry.

MATHEMATICS

A strong foundation on which more complex forms of math can be built is provided by Mrs. Ewing as she reviews fundamental principles. The processes of arithmetic are synthesized with an informal introduction to geometry and trigonometry. Basic concepts and ideas of seventh grade are extended and made concrete during the eighth grade.

MRS. ALICE EWING
Junior High Mathematics

MR. WILLIAM JAMIESON
Junior High Mathematics

Mr. Jamieson's Math 7 course presents fundamental ideas of mathematics. Fractions, decimals, and percent are developed. An informal approach to algebra and geometry is also included. In Math 8, Mr. Jamieson provides students with an adequate background for high school math.

MRS. MARILYN DINGMAN
Junior High Mathematics

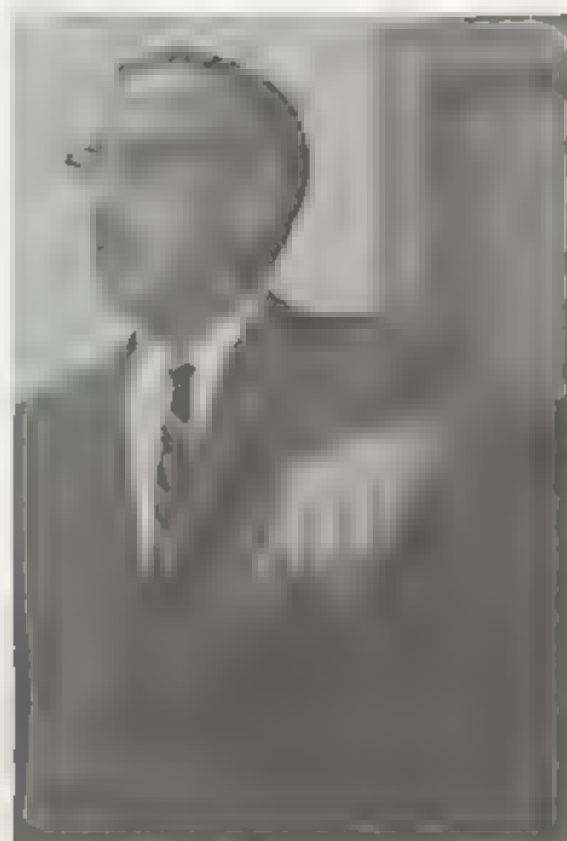

In General Math and Algebra I, Mrs. Dingman reviews the rational number system, working with estimation, ratios, percent, graphing and basic geometrical principles. Students learn the properties of our real number system and apply them to solving problems, graphing equalities and inequalities, and working with polynomials, functions, roots and quadratic equations.

In Math 10, Mrs. Sherman helps students review and extend their skills. Students solve mathematical problems through deductive proof, a logical system of thought written in a definite form. To use this system the students must first learn geometric facts and relationships, then relate them to other fields of mathematics.

MRS. OLIVE SHERMAN
Senior High Mathematic

MR. PAUL McCARTY
Senior High Mathematics
Department Chairman

Intermediate algebra, trigonometry, and coordinate geometry are included in Mr. McCarty's Math II classes. Students deal with solutions of oblique triangles and computations by logarithms. In Advanced Algebra the general theory of equations and the linear function are investigated. Permutations, combinations and probability, the quadratic function variation, and the binomial theorem are also emphasized.

MR. PHILLIP CIARCO
Junior High Mathematics

Junior high mathematics, as taught by Mr. Ciarco, the use of a modern approach to explain and promote understanding of the mathematical facts and procedures which were formerly left to memory and rote learning. Students accumulate a solid base of knowledge on which they may draw as they progress to the higher math courses.

MR. KERRY FINGER
Senior High Mathem

The Advanced Mathematics program represents a means by which the ambitious talented student may be encouraged to work to the limit of his ability. In Mr. Finger's class he is given a substantial training in differential and integral calculus with sufficient applications in physics and analytical geometry to bring out the meaning and importance of the subject.

MRS. HELEN HOLAHAN
Latin and English

Latin students are given opportunities to achieve linguistic goals, a deeper understanding of English, and greater facility in speaking and writing. Mrs. Holahan's classes learned to appreciate Latin literature, and thus become better judges of English literature. Students also studied the philosophy, art, and social and political history of the Romans.

LANGUAGE AND LIBRARY

The library is open for studying and reference each day from 8:00 - 4:30. Mrs. Bunnell includes book talks and reading guidance in her program for regularly scheduled seventh and eighth grade classes. She also instructs the junior high students in the use of encyclopedias, the Dewey Decimal system, the card catalog, the parts of a book and biographical dictionaries. Senior high students are instructed in advance reference as the need arises.

MRS. DORIS BUNNELL
Librarian, Department Chairman

MISS ELISA ARIAS
Spanish

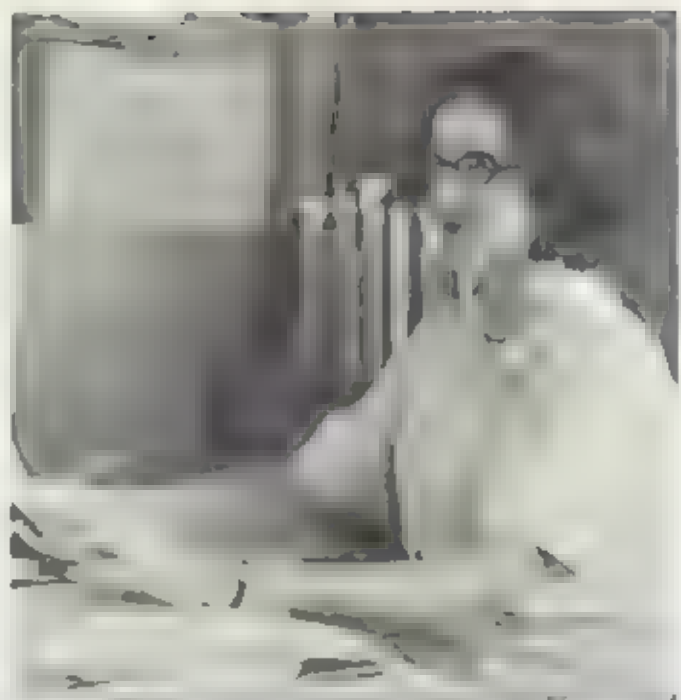

Roy-Hart was fortunate to have Miss Arias from Venezuela as a Spanish teacher this year. Her students learned to speak the language fluently. Miss Arias used Spanish records, films, slides and a Spanish laboratory. She conducted most of her classes in Spanish, and provided background knowledge of the Spanish people and their culture.

MRS. HELEN LENT
French

Mrs. Lent gave her French students practice in speaking, hearing, reading, and writing the French language. The most important contributions of the French to the civilizations of the world in the fields of geography, history, art, music, science, and literature were also discussed.

GUIDANCE

MRS. LEONORA BOWERMAN
Guidance

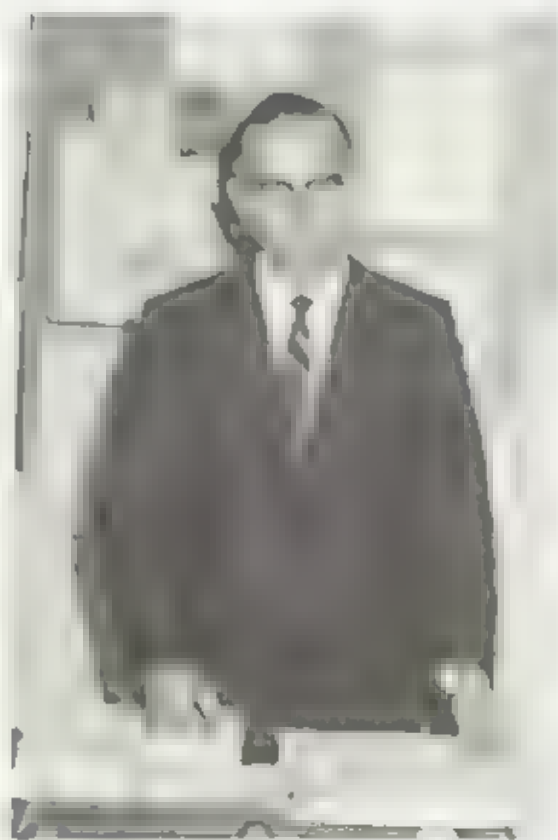

Mrs. Bowerman is committed to the uniqueness of each person she counsels. She uses various approaches to help students to realize their full individual potential in achieving success in high school and after graduation. She welcomes both students and teachers to her office at any time.

In the seventh and eighth grade social studies classes, Mr. Basom, our junior high counselor, teaches various group guidance units dealing with orientation to the new school environment, development of personal and social adjustments, and the study of occupational and educational information as it relates to the high school curriculum.

MR. ROBERT BASOM
Guidance

This year, Mr. Uschold, through his specialized educational background assisted many Roy-Hart students to realistically choose those subjects which would best enable them to attain their goals. He also worked closely with seniors, helping them to prepare for college and various occupations after high school. Guidance is an invaluable service for our students.

MR. NORMAN USCHOLD
Guidance

MR. JOHN DOUGLAS
Psychologist

Mr. Douglas works on an individual basis with students having problems of adjustment, behavior, emotional disturbances and underachievement or superior ability. After referral a student is tested. Then adjustments are made for his benefit. Mr. Douglas also serves in an advisory capacity in areas of curriculum, child management, school environment and testing.

MUSIC

MR. STEPHEN PREGMON
Instrumental Music

Mr. Pregmon's eighth grade music students and his instrumentalists gain an insight into music by learning its history and accomplishments through the ages. Instrumentalists learn the finer points of the violin, viola, cello, and bass. Works from all eras give orchestra members a deeper understanding and appreciation of music.

Mrs. Flatt's music students learn the fundamentals of music, harmony, keyboard training, and ear training through melodic, rhythmic and harmonic dictation. They study all musical forms. They learn correct voice training, improve sight reading, memorize compositions, perform at concerts, and participate in County Sectionals, All-State Competition, assemblies and musicals.

MRS. MIRIAM FLATT
Vocal Music
Department Chairman

MR. ROBERT CAVERS
Instrumental Music

Mr. Cavers' band members receive individual instruction as well as band practice. A double band period helped the bands and baton twirlers perfect marching maneuvers. Valuable experience came from participation in parades, football games, concerts, state and county competition festivals, area All-State Festivals, assemblies and graduation.

MRS. ELEANOR MANELL
Junior High Vocal Music

Seventh grade General Music, as taught by Mrs. Manell, includes the study of all musical instruments and of the composers of the Romantic Period. Training is also given in part-singing. The junior high spring concert gave the students the opportunity to use this vocal skill.

MRS. EVELYN SHELDON
Junior High Art

ART

Today art is recognized as an important part of everyday life. This concept is the basis of Mrs. Sheldon's seventh and eighth grade art classes. A knowledge of the principles of art helps the student dress well, arrange furniture and accessories effectively, and develop appreciation of other related arts such as architecture.

MR. JAMES COOPER
Senior High Art
Department Chairman

Mr. Cooper gives his art classes an opportunity for expression of ideas. Various techniques develop personal competency. Art Appreciation traces art development from Ancient Greece to the present and usually includes a student-prepared video production. Photography students attempt to create new vision by dealing with textures, lights, emotions and people.

MR. JOSEPH GRANCHELLI
Junior High Art

The relaxed atmosphere of Mr. Granchelli's art room is conducive to the stimulation of creative thinking during art classes. Students experiment with a variety of materials while working on projects. The class instruction helps develop in the students an awareness of their environment and appreciation of the arts in general.

BUSINESS AND AGRICULTURE

MRS. HELEN McKINNEY
Secretarial, Department Chairman

Mrs. McKinney's juniors and seniors in the business department learn office procedures and develop their skills in shorthand and typewriting. They learn to operate modern office machines, such as the new offset duplicator. A team of two girls placed second and one girl was named District Champion Typist in the Alfred Contest.

In order to survive, a business must make a profit. In Business Arithmetic, Mr. DiCarlo teaches future business employees to figure business transactions accurately. In Book-keeping, students learn how to record these transactions accurately and in Business Law, emphasis is placed on the legal procedures of everyday living.

MR. SALVATORE DiCARLO
Non-Vocational Business

MRS. ALMA J. SEABURY
Secretarial

One may see students using typewriters and writing "hen tracks" in room 141 — Mrs. Seabury's room. Besides teaching typing and shorthand where she uses constant drill in striving for perfection, Mrs. Seabury also instructs a notehand course which has proved interesting and helpful to its participants.

MR. PARRY MERRELL
Agriculture

Assembling, repairing and maintaining machinery and equipment are important functions of Mr. Merrell's agriculture classes. Students also study agricultural business methods such as the production and management of crops and livestock, the operation of a farm, and the progress of the agriculture industry.

HOME ECONOMICS AND HEALTH

MRS. GAIL BARTH
Junior High Home Economics

Good grooming and child care are emphasized in Mrs. Barth's seventh and eighth grade home economics classes. For practical experience a hair dressing demonstration is included. During the study of food, luncheons are prepared and served to the faculty. The eighth graders make toys and write original story books. Each girl creates and models an outfit.

"Food with a Foreign Flair" pleased the faculty members who were entertained by Miss Rauscher's Home Economics 3 classes. Class members visited the Country House, super markets, department stores, and the Niagara Mohawk Test Kitchen in Batavia. They also watched demonstrations given by resource people.

MISS JEAN RAUSCHER
Senior High Home Economics
Department Chairman

MRS. ALICE GOODMAN
High School Nurse Teacher

The branch of public health connected with the school system deals with prevention more than treatment. A cumulative health record is kept which provides information about each student's vision, hearing and physical defects. Mrs. Goodman teaches the prevention of illness and first aid on an individual basis and takes care of accidents and emergency illness.

MISS ELIZABETH MERRIAM
Girls' Physical Education

Miss Merriam's "zip" bubbles over into her girls' gym classes. Senior high girls improve their skills in basketball, field hockey, and swimming. Junior high girls are instructed in the basic principles of the sports. Intramurals involve field hockey, archery, track and field, basketball, softball and tennis.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

MR. L. CARLTON CHASE
Boys' Physical Education

Girls in grades seven through twelve receive instructions from Miss Green in the swimming pool. Races are held to develop speed and endurance using various learned strokes. Diving techniques are taught, as well as synchronized swimming. Also included in the swimming curriculum are water games and water safety.

"All students graduating from Roy-Hart are swimmers" is the goal of Mr. Chase. In his classes he teaches the basic skills of swimming including all strokes, survival floating, diving from the pool side and underwater swimming. Front dives, back dives and front and back somersaults are also taught.

MISS FRANCES GREEN
Girls' Physical Education

MR. JAMES McCORMICK
Boys' Physical Education

In his gym classes Mr. McCormick develops strength, agility, speed and endurance. In the spring and fall boys participate in outside games. In the winter exercises, trampoline, apparatus, and mat work are indoor activities. Each boy takes the New York State Physical Fitness Test.

MR. ROBERT QUERNS
Junior and Senior High Industrial Arts, Department Chairman

In Mr. Querns' Industrial Arts classes twenty-five per cent of the students' time is devoted to book work. Seventy-five per cent is allocated to practical application such as removing pistons, grinding valves, working on the aircraft engine, making cabinets and testing finishes or glues.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

DRIVER EDUCATION

MR. KENNETH EIGENMANN
Driver Education

Well-developed skills and habits are essential for all drivers. Mr. Eigenmann paves the way for many students to obtain their licenses. Instruction also includes the care of the automobile, insurance, the New York State Motor Vehicle Law, and an important study of causes of accidents related to drinking, drugs, and driving.

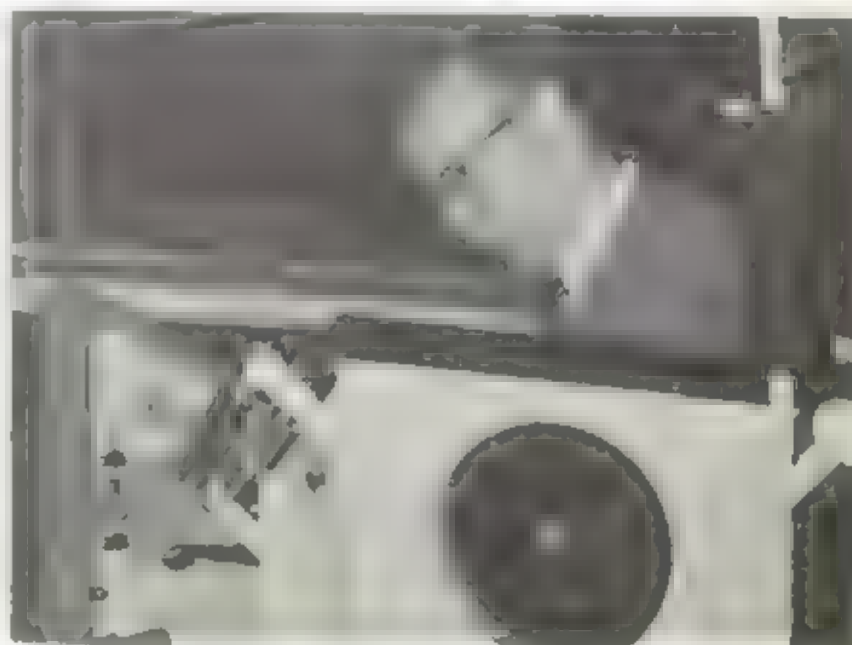

Proficiency in the use of basic instruments is taught by Mr. Smugor in Mechanical Drawing I. More advanced courses include the drawing of patterns and machine parts, blue printing, and architectural designing. The training and equipment are similar to those of industry and college, thus affording a better preparation for students.

MR. CARL SMUGOR
Mechanical Drawing

MR. WALTER KAZ
Junior and Senior High
Industrial Arts

In Mr. Kaz's shop, the junior high boys work on radios; make wooden plaques, bird houses and gun racks, metal lamps and book racks, plastic coin purses, rubber stamps and business cards; and repair bicycles. The senior high boys study house-wiring, metal-working, arc-welding, and milling machine operation.

MISS MALDE DUNHAM
strict Director of Reading

Miss Dunham focuses her attention on the improvement of independent reading at all levels. This year a new Reading Laboratory course for senior high students was initiated. Students learn to improve their reading ability and comprehension. Team learning is a vital part of the junior high developmental reading classes.

MRS. CORRINE KENNEDY
Reading

Mrs. Kennedy meets small groups of junior high people on a highly individualized basis as she works in the corrective reading program. Keying a wealth of materials to individual needs, she focuses on developmental skills. Her students' self-confidence is bolstered and their attitudes much improved through learning at their own pace.

MR. WILLIAM MULL
Reading

Work in the new reading laboratory is done on an individual basis with each student working at his own rate and ability. Controlled reading machines, tape recorders, and programmed materials are used to help improve the students' rate of reading and flexibility, comprehension and study skills.

MRS. JOYCE DERRY
Reading

The developmental reading program includes a wide range of materials on all subjects. This program helps to develop the students' skills in vocabulary and different types of reading, and in using different types of books and applying reading competencies when studying different types of school subjects.

LIKE TOPSY, BOCES GROWS AND GROWS

During its ten years of operation the Board of Cooperative Educational Services has provided outstanding programs to seven area schools. BOCES headquarters in Medina is supervised by Mr. Otto J. Stewart, District Superintendent of Schools and Executive Officer. From a beginning of 12 special teachers, the staff now includes 40 specialists in 26 areas of education. Facilities include three buildings housing one-third million dollars worth of equipment and furniture. Roxbart students benefit from these special educational opportunities in many fields: 9 courses of Vocational Education, Distributive Education, VICP, Medical Careers, Industrial Arts, Dental Hygiene, General Business, Speech, Psychiatry, Special Education (Trainable, Educable, and Severe Learning Disabilities) and the Regional Center of Library Processing and Examination Center for Film and Library Resources in cooperation with Title III.

In the annual American Legion Speaking Contest Eric Kellier, Patti Sanford and Lowell Fry were winners. Mr. Maloney presents their awards

The quiet atmosphere of the library lends itself to study and reference work. Larry Carroll and Raymond Snowden work on a topic for English

Seventh grade boys are using vices in shop to make paper pads. This is part of the printing unit.

David Brown demonstrates a double arm, cutoff dismount after performing on the parallel bars

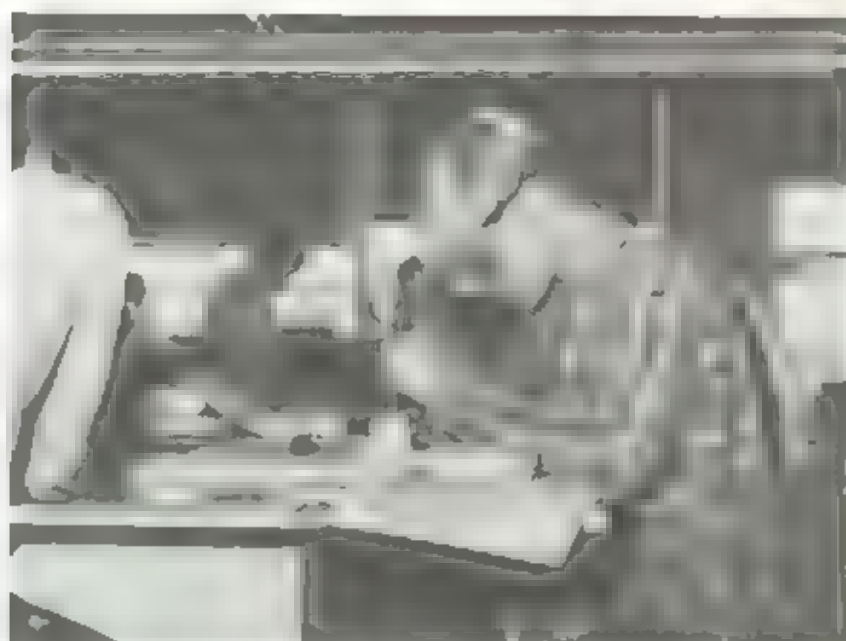

All sorts of interesting things are made in art classes. These boys are working on clay models.

A beautician visited the homemaking classes and demonstrated hair care and hair styling

A new language lab was initiated this year. Students listen to tapes to help them improve their understanding of French and Spanish

Students in shop classes wear safety glasses. Ronald Berlin is shown wiring a lamp fixture in electric shop

Through the guidance department, members of the State Employment Office administer tests to the seniors. They follow up with a personal interview.

Machine Shorthand is a fascinating subject taught in the business department. Darlynn Wojtkowski practices her words in preparation for dictation Sociology is a new subject taught in the social studies department. Linda Ogden seeks Mr. Coles' help with a problem.

Over two hundred boys and girls study all phases of music in chorus classes. These girls are preparing for "Sing Out '67"

Homemaking girls learn to be good cooks and to entertain. They made foreign dishes and served the faculty and entertained at teas.

Science consists of both formal study and practical labs. Barb Jones and John Collins measure the Heat of Vaporization in Chemistry Lab.

Several tests are given by the Guidance Department. Juniors can't "peek" when they take the School-College Ability Test.

Every Wednesday finds the girls in the pool. Miss Merriam instructs these girls in the graceful manner of staying on top of the water.

Yes, there is a correct way to make a bed. Girls in homemaking class were given this instruction by a student teacher.

Reading is the basis for all learning. A new reading lab was installed this year to stress individual reading rates and comprehension.

On Teacher Recognition Day, members of the faculty were appreciative of the corsages or boutonnieres presented by the Student Council and FTA

Who but teachers would get up at 6 a.m. and go horseback riding before school!!! Even at that hour Mr. Bermingham can clown here's the play, fellows — 36, 24, 36'

Faculty, faculty, they're our men; if they can do it, anybody can

All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy — the same goes for the faculty.

Mr. Granchelli and Mr. August enjoy the delicious smorgasbord served the faculty on Teacher Recognition Day

TO THE FALLEN ONE

And now night
the coal-black skies have absorbed
our golden one.

One recalls
the glory of conception, the steaming fog
of morn itself.

The day
was more than divine, like vaulting through buttercups and daisies in the meadow, with the world in your heart.

Then came dusk,
a hazy, gray recollection
teetering on the brink of eternity.

And now — night.
May The Sun Rise!

I would like to thank you, the teachers and students of Rovalton Hartland Central School, who have been so nice to me during the year I am spending here. I really appreciate your kindness and friendship so much. I feel that Rovalton Hartland Central School is a very nice school in every way. I enjoy and love this school very much. I wish I could be a student of Rovalton-Hartland Central School forever. From your association with me during my one year with you, please don't judge all Thai people by my example, because people in my country are each individually different. [Ket, we think you have set a very fine example as a representative of the Thai people! Ed.] If I become a teacher, I think I would like to teach American students because they are active and express themselves so well. The experiences I have had at Rovalton Hartland Central School are things that I will never forget. I wish I could come to the United States again sometime in the future.

Ket Ubol Sookkee
A. F. S. Student from Thailand

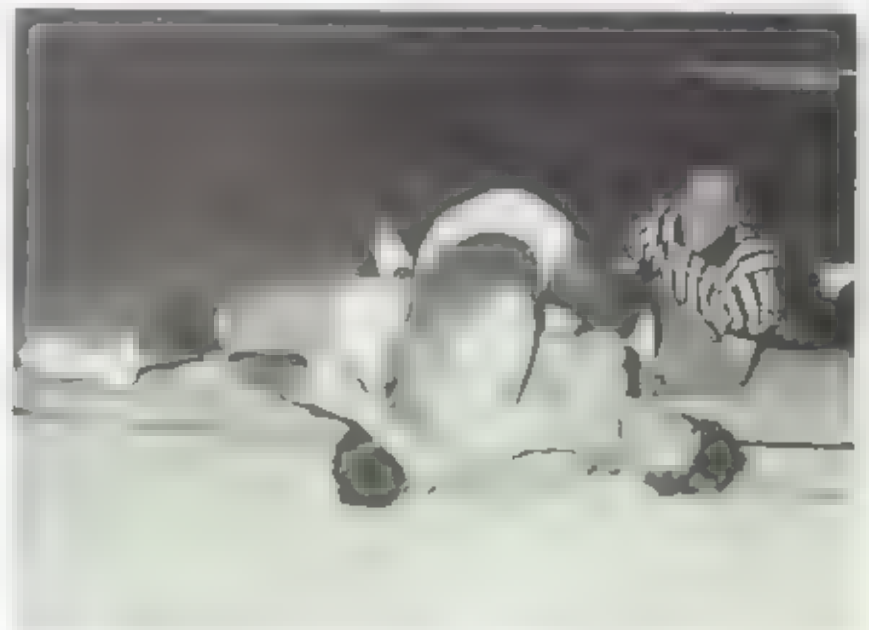

Teachers and Students
Rovalton-Hartland Central School

I am very happy and grateful to the Scope's staff for giving me a great opportunity to thank everybody in Rovalton Hartland. The pupils and administration have been so kind to me. Thanks to them I have learned so many things and had so many experiences. I believe that a peaceful world can be established by the meeting of the world's people with each other. AFS helps the students of many nations to get to know the people and customs of other nations. In this way, I hope that in the future we will have a great, colorful, and a peaceful world.

Bekir Kaya
A. F. S. Student from Turkey

Soon after her arrival, Ket helped construct the AFS float on which she and Bekir rode in the Labor Day Parade.

Bekir pins his opponent at a league wrestling match. His athletic ability was admired by everyone.

THESE ARE OUR "GOOD OLD DAYS"

The period in our lives at Roy-Hart cannot be measured in years, but in experiences. Since September 1955, when we first entered her halls, to the present, when we are preparing for graduation, we have encountered many experiences which will help us to meet the challenge of life in the world today.

In elementary school, our outlook on life was broadened. We staged "The Bremen Town Musicians" and a patriotic pantomime. We moved out of the old buildings used for classes into a modern, newly equipped building. On sixth grade Orientation Day, we got a brief glimpse into the Junior High School life.

Junior High offered many innovations and an independence never before known to us. There was a time to work, a time to study, a time to augment our education through assemblies, and a time for extra-curricular activities. Our freshman dance, "A Little Bit O' Heaven" was our first endeavor as a class. As sophomores, we presented "A Walk on the Wild Side." We were very proud juniors when we won the Parliamentary Procedure Contest. That year we wished "Bon Voyage" to the Senior Class and chose Gary Bass and Sue Batten as King and Queen of the Farewell Ball. We were also very excited and enthusiastic when we received our class rings, decorated the auditorium for Moving-Up Day, and had our first individual pictures in Scope.

As seniors, we heartily welcomed Ket-uBol Sookkee from Thailand and Bekir Kaya from Turkey into our class. Throughout the year, we were kept busy with exams, college forms, interviews, and various details in preparation for the future.

Now, faced with graduation, our ultimate goal as a class, we reminisce of the days at our Alma Mater. We have lived our past and it will not be left in oblivion. However, each one of us will attain a new goal — to live our lives fully and to meet each new challenge to the best of our ability.

Moving-Up Day meant hard work, roses, and more roses

In the traditional Japanese costume, Ann Seaman rides the AFS float in the Labor Day Parade. Ann, selected as our "American Abroad" for the summer of 1967, spent eleven weeks in Tokyo, Japan. Her stay there included climbing up Mt. Fuji, sightseeing in Tokyo, attending classes and learning to appreciate Oriental food

As juniors we proudly displayed our class rings, a symbol of membership in the Class of 1968

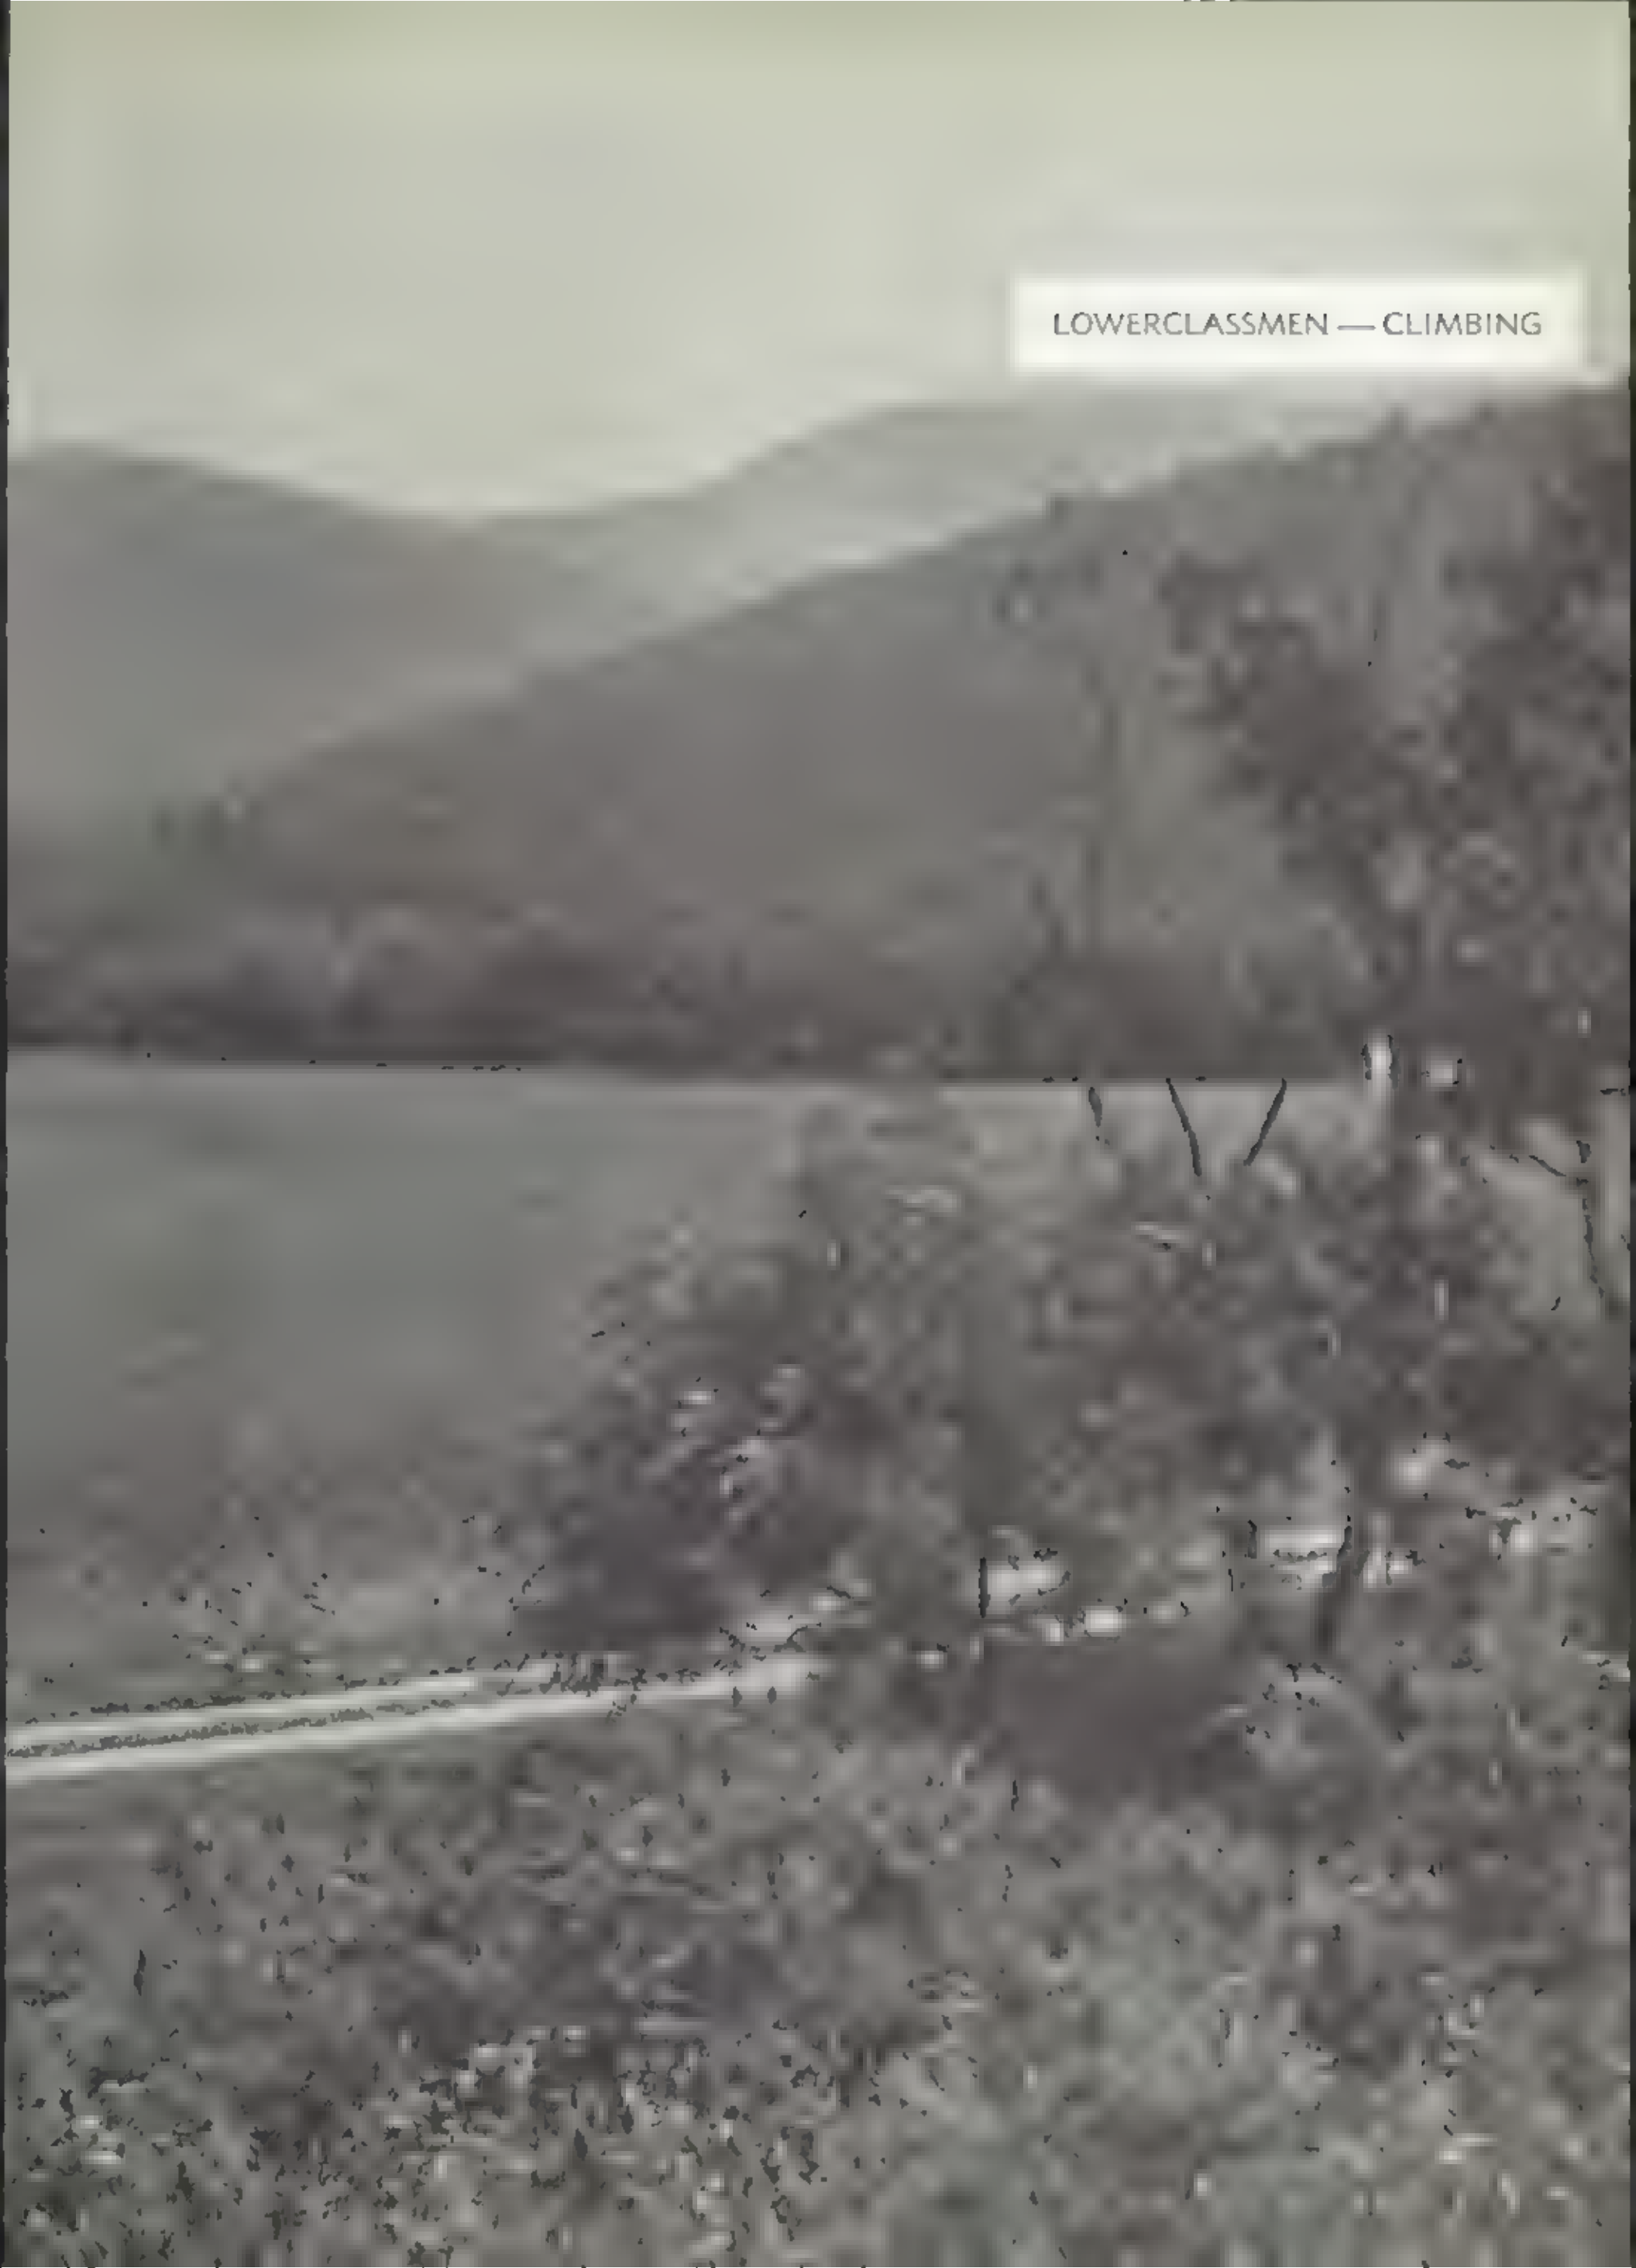

The motivation of our parties, songs and antics during lunch was to prove to everyone within hearing distance that the Class of '68 was the best

FIFTH GRADE

"Beyond Our Solar System" and "Our Growing Bodies" are two topics covered in fifth grade science. Included in the language arts program are creative writing, an appreciation of poetry and multilevel readings in literature. Students are provided with a foundation in pre-high school math. Some fifth graders are having the new experience of having four teachers instead of one

SIXTH GRADE

Field trips and projects enable sixth graders to better understand the peoples and lands studied. The history of man from Stone Age times to the present as well as current events are read about and discussed. Modern math is continued more intensively, along with a thorough study of weather, energy, simple machines, earth, and physical and chemical changes

FOURTH GRADE

The goal set by the fourth grade teacher is to encourage independent work, cooperative attitudes, and self discipline among the pupils. Increased vocabulary and better comprehension are stressed in reading. Short poems, stories, and letter writing are a part of creative writing. Students gain an appreciation of our American heritage from local history and compare the United States with foreign nations.

THIRD GRADE

Cursive writing is introduced in third grade. The importance of reading well is stressed. Field trips were taken to museums, canning factories, dairy farms, and airports to widen the students' background knowledge of social studies. Students made butter, watched yeast rise, and conducted a group breakfast as part of their food unit in science.

SECOND GRADE

Story writing is a new activity for second graders. The number work is an extension of skills. Science includes the study of the earth's topography, plants and seeds, heat, light, weather and sound. In social studies the students become more aware of the community and the contributions of their ancestors. Field trips are taken to enrich class work.

LEY THOMPSON, MRS. FRANCES
RECHLESS, MRS. SUZANNE LA-
MONT

FIRST GRADE

The study and social habits learned in first grade are the foundation of formal education. Reading is correlated with science and the language arts. The basics of modern math, social studies, writing and health are also studied. First grade is a year of hard work and accomplishment, experimentation and discovery — a year of exceptional growth: physically, emotionally, socially, and intellectually.

READING

MRS. MARTHA MILLER
Absentee MRS. RUTH GREEN

READING

Corrective reading is designed for pupils who have not attained reading skills commensurate with their ability. The program features oral discussions, development of listening skills, and auditory discrimination exercises. Emphasis on specific needs has produced a marked improvement, evident in pupil attitude as the importance of learning at one's own pace is recognized.

LIBRARIANS

MISS MARGARET HOFERT MRS.
MARGARET BLACKBURN

LIBRARY

Classes from kindergarten through sixth grade meet in the library regularly each week to receive instruction in the use of the library and the care of books. Resource materials, including films, records, transparencies, maps, globes, filmstrips, and 8-millimeter cartridges, are available for faculty and student use as well as for individual needs.

KINDERGARTEN

MRS. JUNE SIMPSON, MISS LINDA
SPENCER, MRS. LETITIA DORY

KINDERGARTEN

In kindergarten, children learn to work together. They are prepared for first grade work in many fields. Conference time is a time for conversation and discussion. Walks and excursions are taken to help the children learn about their environment. Music and art provide experience in creative expression. There are many opportunities for companionship with other students, teachers and adults.

KINDERGARTEN

MRS. JANICE SHEELAR, MRS.
KATHLEEN GREGORY, MRS. JANICE PERRY

MUSIC

In elementary music the children express themselves by singing, by moving their bodies and by playing rhythm instruments. Simple part-singing, music theory, and two American composers are studied. Later music lessons follow closely with the social studies units.

ART

Three-dimensional art plus the use of chalk, charcoal, and paint while drawing pictures are a part of the art curriculum. Other techniques used are lettering, designing, clay modeling, papier maché, and printing with linoleum blocks and stencils.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

In elementary school "gym time" is a time for relaxation and physical development. Starting in first grade, skills, with emphasis on large muscle activity, are learned, by which the youngsters grow in strength, speed, endurance and agility. In the higher grades more time is devoted to team activities. This program leads to the development of good attitudes toward competition and sportsmanship.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION
 MR. DAVID MARCH MRS. ELIZA
 BETH BRIDGE, MRS. JOAN LLOYD

HEALTH

Mrs. Dickinson makes a physical evaluation of each student by constantly supervising his health habits. Screening tests are given to check vision and hearing. A cumulative health record is kept for each child. Miss Andress cleans and checks each child's teeth and gives a classroom talk on proper dental hygiene.

Mrs. Lindke

A black and white photograph of a large group of people, likely a choir or a group of students, posing in a room with a large window in the background. The group is arranged in several rows, with some individuals standing and others sitting or kneeling in the front. The image is somewhat faded and has a grainy texture.

Mrs Dodge

A black and white photograph of a group of people, likely a family, standing outdoors. There are about ten individuals, including men, women, and children, dressed in early 20th-century attire. They are posed in front of a building with columns.

Mrs Hyde

A black and white photograph of a group of people, likely a family, gathered indoors. Several individuals are seated in the foreground, while others stand behind them. The image is somewhat blurry and has a vintage appearance.

"Number One Book of the Year." SCOPE has upheld the prize-winning reward of excellence for the past nineteen years. Members work diligently taking pictures, typing, proof reading, designing layouts, and pasting dummy copies. Members of the staff attended the ESSPA Conference at Syracuse in the fall. A stationery sale was held to finance a representative to a two-week workshop at Syracuse University. Members of Press Club visited Eastman Kodak in Rochester. The climatic event of the year's work was the day of distribution.

"Sold, to the chap with the orange shirt for $6.25!" Thus ended the second Student Council Slave Day Auction. The proceeds from the auction of council members, over 183 dollars, was put into a fund to help Josh Ongom, a former foreign student. Student Council also sponsored "Operation Christmas Cheer," a project to collect and send gifts to servicemen overseas. It was a successful project with over 100 pounds of goods being sent. Again this year Council published and sold a school activities calendar to raise money for the year's expenses.

Suspense mounts as the lights dim and juniors and seniors sit tensely in their seats wondering if they will be picked. Selection for National Honor Society is the highest honor that can come to a high school student at Royalton Hartland. A faculty committee selects a limited number of juniors and seniors on the basis of scholarship, service, leadership and character. After the induction ceremonies all members and advisers went to the Apple Grove Inn for luncheon.

Vice-President	BRIAN LAGO
Secretary	PATRICIA GERMAIN
Treasurer	NANCY SANFORD
Adviser	MR. EDWARD SCUTT

"From Brazil . . . Where the nuts come from," describes this year's Dramatics Club presentation — CHARLEY'S AUNT. The members participated in performing skits and short plays which developed poise, expression, and self-confidence. They also painted scenery, gathered props, applied make-up, and learned to become efficient in technical directing. A production at Studio Arena Theater and the dramatic festival at Geneseo were attended by the members. The club provides opportunities for students who have an appreciation for theater to gain wider experience and knowledge of the theatrical world.

The Future Nurses gain practical experience while rendering services to others. Volunteers help at the Hilltop Nursing Home and give assistance in the health room. At Christmas the club was organized and distributed to needy families in the community. Through these services as well as listening to guest speakers, visiting hospitals and schools of nursing and viewing education films, members gain insight into nursing careers. These activities aid each member as she strives to find her place in one of the many fields of nursing.

"How is that name pronounced — Duhoo — Duhoo?" This is one of the difficulties that members of Announcers Club encounter in giving daily announcements over the public address system. Before a new member can give an announcement he must have two periods of practice. Diction, enunciation, pronunciation, and emphasis of names and words are stressed. This year the Announcers Club enjoyed a field trip to a local radio station to see fellow announcers at work.

Adviser - Mrs. HELEN HOAHAN

Although they are still young, the journalists take an active interest in all forms of newspaper writing. Most of the members have had no previous experience, therefore, they had to learn the principles of writing before they could begin their work. The format of the school newspaper, the ECHO, was changed this year to a smaller and more convenient size. As a result, the paper was published more frequently than in other years.

If one word could describe the work of High School Red Cross, it would be "service". Red Cross members provided many services for people in need. To spread hope and cheer to many, the members made holiday posters and Christmas cookies for patients in the Veterans Hospital. The annual enrollment drive featured competition among classes. Dinner meetings were held in school in the surrounding area. At these meetings, Red Cross members exchanged ideas and information with members from other clubs.

Junior High Dramatics Club is an organization for students in grades seven through nine interested in dramatics and participating in an annual play. This year's play was a musical play, "Plenty of Money" by Mel Weiser, with scenery designed and painted by Linda Mufford. The members also take an active part in the senior high play and learn more about what goes on behind the scenes. During their meetings they also gain experience in dramatics by giving one-act plays.

"One and a Two and a Three" — this is a familiar sound to the members of the Music Council. This organization is comprised of students of the band, chorus, and orchestra who have earned their 100 point pins. This year they have sponsored a magazine drive, a candy sale, and a talent show to earn money toward the Organ Fund. Last summer, to celebrate their very successful first year, they had a picnic and a swimming party.

"Coach, Coach, he's our man; if he can't do it, team can." The Roy-Hart Football Rams proved this as they brought home the Niagara-Orleans league trophy for the first time since 1957. They held a tight position to tie with Akron for the league crown. The Rams' opponents met a tough and strong defensive and offensive team. The finishing league record was 6-1, with a loss only to co-champ Akron. The outstanding lineman award went to Barry Gilbert, the outstanding back to Thomas Weber, and the All-Star Selection by coaches and players to Jon Corser.

The basketball season got off to a great start with seven straight wins, but the Rams failed to keep their winning streak through to the end. Plagued by injuries to some key players, Roy-Hart finished the season with an impressive 10 wins and 4 losses, thus clinching the third place standing in the Niagara-Orleans League. At sectional play-offs on a foggy night at Frontier Central, the Rams fell to Falconer 64-46. All in all, the season was a very successful one.

"We're gonna put up a good fight!" was the battle cry of Roy-Hart's batmen for the 1967 baseball season. They did put up a good fight; nevertheless the season ended with a record of four wins and ten losses. This can be called a "hard luck" year. Four of the games were lost by one run only and some of the players were injured at the beginning of the season. John Hammer led the team with a .300 batting average and Tom Nichols pitched the upset of the season against Medina by defeating them six to four.

With the sound of the starter's pistol the Roy-Hart swimming team embarked on its most successful season in its four-year history to wind up with 10 wins and only 2 losses. A major highlight of the season was the defeat of the crack Akron swimming team. Roy-Hart's swimming team placed second in the Section VI Class A Sectionals with first places going to John Ralph in the 100-yard butterfly and Dana Draper in diving. Many pool records were shattered by star performances of Roy-Hart's talented mermen during a highly successful season.

The sportsmanship and never say-die attitude among the matmen brought forth several outstanding individual performances. Though not used to American-style wrestling, our sensational Turkey boy Bekir Kaya, overcame this obstacle and went on to place second in his weight class at Sectionals. Recognition is also due to William Wilson, who made up for his size with agility to place fourth at sectionals.

Love may be a many-splendored thing, but not to the Roy-Hart Tennis Team. Although the over-all record was not too impressive — 2 wins and 8 losses — the team displayed spirit and determination. The award for the most improved player went to William Howe, a sophomore. Robert Halstead, a senior, received the most valuable player award. This season the team initiated the Rod Bunting Memorial Tennis Trophy. This award was broken into three divisions: Senior, Intermediate and Junior. The winners were: Robert Halstead, Senior; Gerald Antonucci, Intermediate; and Barry Bermudez, Junior.

Captain - - - - - TED BROOM
 Coach - - - - - MR. CARLTON CHASE

The 1967 golf team had a cold and miserable season which was proven by the cancelling of the Medina and LeRoy meets. The moderately small team placed fourth in the league with a record of three wins, six losses and one tie. The team's captain, Ted Broom, placed seventh in the Sectionals and received the most valuable player award. The most improved player award went to Richard Stewart. There are great possibilities for the next year's team as the boys continue to improve their strokes.

JV BOYS RAMMED THE MUSTANGS

The JV Rams finished up the season with two wins against Barker and Wilson to secure a record of four wins and three losses despite injuries to quarterback, Rick Seward, and left halfback, Tom Ulrich, early in the season. The team's greatest triumph was over Medina who had been unbeaten and unscored upon. The boys rammed the Mustangs to turn out a 147 victory. Eric Keller romped through the season to be the most improved freshman, and Brian Wauld was most improved sophomore.
